

Online CORE Discussion Group

It's a simple question: "who else in my area has CORE training?"

Until recently it has been difficult for CORE staff to provide a satisfactory answer to that question while maintaining the privacy of our volunteers. However, there is now a way for CORE members to network directly with each other by logging into the CORE Google Group. This online discussion group provides the tools and organization necessary to facilitate direct connections for citywide networking, or for peer-to-peer communication about other CORE-related matters.

Membership in the Google Group is reserved for individuals who have already participated in at least one CORE class or event. This maintains the integrity of the group by focusing discussions on issues that directly relate to the CORE Program.

If you have already taken at least one CORE class and would like to join the CORE discussion group:

Visit http://groups.google.com/group/Oakland_CORE to sign up.

If you have not yet participated in any CORE training:

Visit <http://www.oaklandnet.com/fire/core/schedule.html> for the schedule of upcoming CORE classes and events. You can sign up for the introductory CORE I class using the online registration form or you can call 510-238-6351 to sign up over the phone. Once you have completed at least one CORE class, you may join the online discussion group.
